Thanksgiving Food Baskets

Once again Sinai Temple will be creating food baskets for local families in need. Our goal is to provide 20 baskets this year. Please bring non-perishable items from the list below to the "Chest of Many Colors" in the west foyer between November 11th–18th. Suggested non-perishable items include box stuffing, canned yams, canned corn, 5 or 10 lb bags of potatoes.

If you wish to contribute fresh items, such as milk, eggs, turkey, etc., please contact Leanna at 509-270-1812 or drop off a Meijer's or Schnuck's gift card. Thank you in advance for your support of this important cause.

DEPENDING ON YOUR READING

HABITS, by the time you see this column, the presidential election of 2016 may already have been decided. Perhaps your favorite candidate emerged victorious; perhaps he or she was defeated. Perhaps you weren't happy with any of the choices on the ballot, because your preferred candidate dropped from the race during the primaries, or never even threw his or her hat into the ring.

Certainly, in the immediate term, some will have very strong emotions—whether positive or negative—regarding the election results. But I think what will be more important and more telling for our country's future is how individuals respond to their excitement or disappointment about the election in the weeks, months and years ahead. There are currently no plans to start a satellite branch of Sinai in Toronto, so we will need to find ways to come together and to dial back from the harsh rhetoric that has characterized this race. We will need to relearn how to engage in respectful dialogue with one another, and how to operate collaboratively and openly in our social interactions and in the political sphere.

Many aspects of the campaign struck a nerve with many people. New segments of the population were mobilized (whether for good or for ill). Some of the electorate came to believe that the de facto two-party system that has held for the past several years is inappropriate in a true democracy and that changes need to be made to provide alternative candidates with greater opportunity and visibility. The next four years can be a time for activism and advocacy to help bring these so-called "third parties" into the mainstream.

Some of the electorate became convinced that the deck was stacked against their preferred candidate. Hopefully, by the time you read my words, any notion of fraud will have been put to rest. But for America to fully recover from the contentiousness brought on by sentiments such as this, we will need to continue to try to build bridges, to help people recognize that America works best when opportunities are available for all. We need to have our eyes, ears, and hearts open to others who feel pain because they feel that perhaps this country has left them behind.

In 1938, Langston Hughes wrote:
"Let America be America Again
Let it be the dream it used to be.
Let it be the pioneer on the plain
Seeking a home where he himself is free.
(America never was America to me.)"
(from "Let America Be America Again")

The ADL and other hate-monitoring groups sadly have reported a rise in anti-Semitic incidents during this election. I am not one to see a threat around every corner, nor am I one to dismiss or excuse when there is clear evidence of hatred. We are seeing increased divisiveness in this country. We need to find ways to repudiate Hughes' bitter refrain, to celebrate an America that does provide her promise to all regardless of race, class, gender, etc. When we do so, when we ensure that everyone has access to the "inalienable rights" of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," then maybe we will be able to pull ourselves back from this brink, and perhaps we will move forward from the contentious nature of the election toward healing and cooperation.

L'Shalom,

Rabbi Alan Cook

AS THIS IS THE BEGINNING of November and with the high holidays just ending, it seems appropriate for me to say thanks. One of the first things taught in many leadership classes is that the most important resource of any enterprise is its people. In a volunteer organization, such as Sinai Temple, the people are not only our most important resource, but they are also the reason that our organization even exists. Sinai Temple's mission is not just about prayer, worship and education; but also includes fellowship, loyalty, and goodwill.

During the past month of October, our community came together to worship and celebrate Rosh Hashanah (Reform, Traditional, Children and Family, and Jewnior services), Kol Nidre (Traditional and Reform), Yom Kippur (Reform, Traditional, Children and Family, and Jewnior services), Sukkot, Simchat Torah, and the normal array of Shabbat services.

I can't begin to name all the specific people that contributed, but all are deserving of thanks. Sure, some are obvious like Rabbi Alan, Rabbi Jody, Martha and the choir, Larry, and Allison and the Shabbat Singers. There are also Kathy, Roxanna, John and Natalie who take care of the Temple and the business side of the Temple. There were babysitters during the services and members of the Baha'i community that assisted with the High Holiday food drive. There are also the board officers and board members who served as ushers, greeters and readers. There are the children and building committee members who helped setup all the chairs and distributed books in between services. There are those who brought food for the community events and those that cleaned up afterwards. There are the youth and adults who read Torah, Haftorah, and other select passages. There are the shofar blowers and the sukkah builders. I am sure I must be forgetting someone to mention; please accept my apology.

I also greatly appreciate all of the members of our community who help out in many ways that ensure the community has great and meaningful events during this time of year (and the rest of the year as well). Without all of your support this community would not be the wonderful and caring community that it is.

I spent much of my High Holiday speeches talking about what we need to prepare for the future. I did so, because I want to ensure that this community continues to be strengthened and that we ensure that it is on solid footing for many years to come.

Lastly, THANK YOU for all your contributions to the community, both now and in the future.

Gary Bernstein

Annual "Thanksgiving" Feast for dinner and a visit from URJ OSRUI Camp Director—Jerry Kaye

We have been SO busy!

In addition to kicking off the school year, youth centered programming is in full swing. CUTY has over 20 registered members and a newly elected board of leaders who will design social, tikkun olam based and religious/cultural programs for the year. Participants have done a scavenger hunt and tashlich program on campus and some members travelled to Chicago for a regional event.

KIDDush Club hosted a Pop Up Play Date, facilitated by KOOP (Kid-Owned and Operated Play). We welcomed over 25 young children to the beautiful backyard at Sinai Temple for several hours of sunshine, and creativity. Our next program will be on December 18—a pool party at the Urbana Indoor Aquatic Center.

Jewnior Congregation was attended by over 20 children (both on Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur). We made fleece tie blankets to donate, saw a presentation by the Pollinatarium, tasted different honey varieties and learned that we have to change our behavior when we apologize for a mistake that we made. Students from Kindergarten through 6th grade worked together, learned together and prayed together.

12 students from the Religious School attended the Archery program. Just like in archery, there are times when we hit the target and times when we miss the mark. All improved with practice, which should be a goal in life!

THANK YOU FOR YOUR PARTICIPATION!
