THE OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON THESE HOLIDAYS:

SUKKOT	Thursday, October 5th
SUKKOT	Friday, October 6th
SHEMINI ATZERET/ SIMCHAT TORAH	Thursday, October 12th

I write these words a few days prior to the start of the High Holidays and the beginning of 5778. By the time this issue arrives on your mailboxes, Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur will each have passed.

It happens that as I am writing, the spacecraft Cassini is making its final descent through the rings of Saturn to its certain destruction. The heat and pressure of Saturn's atmosphere guaranteed that by about 3 PM on September 14, Cassini would be no longer. Though this was planned within the design of Cassini's twenty-year mission, there is still an element of sadness in this chain of events. The images that Cassini has transmitted during the recent portions of its mission—particularly the pictures snapped as it passed by Saturn's moons and dove into the icy rings surrounding the planet—have been stunningly beautiful and have given us important new information about this corner of our solar system. Among other things, Cassini's close-up views of the moons Enceladus and Titan have shown them to be potential locations for finding life forms outside of Earth's atmosphere.

We may be able to find a metaphor in Cassini's demise. Our High Holidays, along with the fall holidays of Sukkot, Shemini Atzeret and Simchat Torah, are moments of great celebration. But they also serve as opportunities for introspection and reflection on our past. During the Yom Kippur Yizkor service, we have the chance to think about those who came before us (Yizkor prayers will also be recited on Thursday morning, October 12 at 10 AM, as the ETM leads us in worship for Shemini Atzeret). We reflect on their legacies, and pray that we are honoring their memories as we continue to build upon the foundation they have established.

In a similar manner, though Cassini has ceased to exist, the data that NASA has collected and the lessons learned from this project will continue to drive discoveries, innovations, and future space explorations. Like our loved ones, Cassini's impact will be felt far beyond the bounds of its lifetime.

There is a passage in the Reform prayerbook, Mishkan Tefillah, which is suggested as a reading before the Mourner's Kaddish. It is adapted from a poem by Hannah Senesh.

There are stars above above,
So far away we only see their light
Long, long after the star itself is gone
And so it is with people that we loved—their memories keep shining ever brightly
though their time with us is done.
But the stars that light up the darkest night,
these are the lights that guide us.
As we live our days, these are the ways we remember.

As it is with starlight, so it is with space probe images and with the legacies of our loved ones. We find that they continue to influence our lives long after their physical presence has ended.

May we ever show gratitude for the broadening of our scientific frontiers, and may we always be grateful to our loved ones who have left us invaluable lessons.

L'shalom,

Alan Cook

From Social Action

After the High Holidays, once again Sinai Temple will be creating Thanksgiving food baskets for local families in need. Our goal is to provide 20 baskets this year. We are asking that people bring non-perishable items such as box stuffing, canned yams, canned corn, 5 or 10 lb bags of potatoes. Or you can contribute gift cards/funds for fresh items, such as milk, eggs, turkey, etc.

More information on collection dates and contacts coming soon.

I hope you all had a sweet Rosh Hashanah and a meaningful Yom Kippur! One of the great gifts of our faith is this time of renewal each year, and we at Sinai Temple try to provide our membership with the best experience we can, for ages 2 to 102. If there is anything you can think of that would improve our High Holiday celebration still further, I hope you will not hesitate to let me or another Board member or Rabbis Alan and Jody know, so we can begin working on next year's holidays. After all, this is your community!

Since I am writing this a week before Erev Rosh Hashanah, I don't know for sure how many people attended our services during the holidays this year, but if past years are any indication, my heart swells with pride when I look out over the gathering of people all there for a common purpose on these most uncommon days. It is a sight that inspires hope for the future of our Temple. I feel very fortunate to be a part of this vibrant community, as I hope you do, too.

I don't know if you have had a chance to view the visual presentation on display outside the sanctuary of possible plans for the renovation of the Temple. This presentation is an artist's conception by our architects, Ratio Design Associates, of some of the changes suggested by congregants last year. You should take a few moments to see it. They have some very good ideas for how to make our worship and celebration spaces more functional and pleasant, but realize that this is a work in progress. We want to hear feedback from you on what you like and what you don't like. Once we decide what we'd like to see in the new Temple design, the hard work of figuring out how we can make it a reality will begin, but for now, let's do a little dreaming!

We're not quite done celebrating, as you know! October this year has two more holidays, Sukkot and Simchat Torah. When you are reading this letter, we will be in the midst of Sukkot, the celebration of the harvest. This season is especially meaningful for us in the Midwest, even if we aren't directly involved in farming. I hope you'll come and celebrate with all of us for the Sukkot dinner and singalong out in our Temple Sukkah, weather permitting. In case of rain, we'll just move the party into the Davis Chapel. Even if you can't come that evening, you should spend a few moments in the peace of the Sukkah, gazing up at the stars through the roof. It is our way of enjoying the "season of mellow fruitfulness."

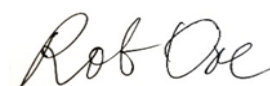

One of my favorite holidays is Simchat Torah, literally "joy of Torah." This is when we have the ability to get up close and personal with our Torah scrolls, and truly immerse in the heritage of our people. It means a lot to me that the whole community comes together to celebrate with this precious document. The other thing we do is dance with the Torah. Both of these activities allow us to express our "ahavat Torah," or "love of Torah." If you've never experienced this holiday, come out and join us, because I know you'll enjoy it!

At the close of Sukkot, we will need to take down, organize and store the Sukkah for next year. If you'd like to help with this process of deconstruction, it will take place on Sunday, October 15, rain or shine. See your weekly email blasts for details.

Looking forward, several members of our congregation will be attending the URJ Biennial in Boston from December 6-10. This is a great opportunity to connect with the larger Reform Judaism community in the United States. I went to the Biennial in Orlando two years ago, and it felt like being at camp! If you like ruach and learning, this might be for you! You can contact Rabbi Alan, Jake Sosnoff, Toni Lachman or me if you're interested.

See you in Temple!

FEATURED FUNDS OF THE MONTH

Wanting to make a contribution to a Temple or Temple owned fund but need more information? Each month we will highlight two funds. One is owned and administered by Sinai Temple and the other is owned by Sinai Temple but managed and dispersed by the Champaign Urbana Jewish Endowment Funds (CUJEF).

Sinai Temple Fund

Alpiner Stern Flower Fund: This fund supplies flowers for the interior of the Temple. After the weekly services the flowers are taken to Temple members that are homebound, recovering from an illness, in the hospital or just need to know someone cares about them. (Make out the check to Sinai Temple and mail to the Temple)

CUJEF Fund

Julius Cohen Memorial Garden Fund: The Cohen Garden is located outside the Levin Lounge near the Sanctuary. The vision for this garden is to make it a meeting place for small gatherings, cookouts and even onegs if the weather permits. (The check needs to be written to CUJEF and mailed to 503 E John St, Champaign, IL 61820)

THE MAKING OF A MENSCH

What is your definition of MENSCH? This Yiddish word indicates that a person is a person of integrity. Often times, when we talk to our children about doing good deeds, we teach them that they are doing mitzvot. A Mitzvah is more than a good deed—a mitzvah is a commandment. We are certainly doing a good thing by honoring God and fulfilling the commandments, but not all mitzvot are good deeds. Lighting the candles on Shabbat is not a good deed—it is a commandment. Helping a person who is hungry is both a commandment and a good deed.

This year, there is a bulletin board in front of the offices that will be used to track some of the honorable things that our students have done. If your child has done something remarkable to help another person, to take care of the environment or to show respect to people or belongings, please send me a quick email and I will be sure to add a medal to the “Honorable Mensch-ion” board in his/her/their honor.

The purpose of Sinai Temple is to worship God in accordance with the Jewish faith; to cultivate a love and understanding of Jewish heritage through education; to stimulate fellowship in the Jewish community; to strengthen bonds of loyalty with Jewish people everywhere; and to bring nearer the Dominion of God on earth through an emphasis on righteousness (tzedakah), commandments (mitzvot), and goodwill (gemilut hasidim) to one another and to society at large.

Inspired by the Jewish ideals of tzedakah and tikkun olam, and a deep concern over racial inequality in America, Julius Rosenwald, used his wealth to become one of America's most effective philanthropists. Because of his modesty, Rosenwald's philanthropy and social activism are not well known today. He gave away $62 million in his lifetime.
