From Rabbi Alan Cook's Desk

Mishenichnas Adar, Marbim B'Simcha—when Adar enters, happiness increases!

This popular saying about the Hebrew month of Adar stems in part from the fact that Adar is the month in which Purim falls. When Adar starts, therefore, Purim can't be far behind! The Hebrew month of Adar will begin this year in early February. But because of complexities of the Hebrew calendar, we are actually blessed with TWO months of Adar this year (Purim is celebrated in Adar II; our Purim celebration and megillah reading will take place on Wednesday, March 20).

Because the Hebrew calendar is a lunar calendar, it does not align perfectly with the secular Gregorian calendar, which is a solar calendar. Thus, if it were not "corrected" every few years with the addition of an extra month, Passover would sometimes be observed in the winter, and Chanukah would be observed in the summer (see, for instance, the lunar Islamic calendar, whose festivals move around each year).

We're commanded (it's an actual mitzvah!) to be silly on Purim, and on the surrounding days. I'm even devoting my current Sunday morning Adult Education series to the topic of Jewish Humor. Join us most Sundays when Religious School is in session, from 11:30 AM–12:30 PM.

There are many wonderful humorists that come out of the Jewish tradition, and many wonderful jokes. I'll leave you with just a few to whet your appetite for the merriment of Adar:

"Hereshel Ostropole [a commonly cited figure in early Jewish humor] tried to make his living as an antique seller. Prominently featured in his shop was a large framed blank canvas.

Eventually, a customer took interest in the canvas and asked about its price.

"This is an old and famous painting," Hershele said.

"But it's blank!" the customer replied.

"No, it just looks that way. Come closer and let me explain... This is an actual depiction of the crossing of the Sea of Reeds done by one of Moses' relatives. It's very valuable."

"How can that be?" the customer demanded. "There's nothing there! Where are the Israelites, for example?"

"When the painting was made, the Israelites had already crossed over!"

"What about the Egyptians?"

"The Egyptians hadn't gotten there yet."

"Ah. But what about the water? Where's the water?"

"Don't you remember your basic bible stories? The waters had already parted!"

Mr Goldstein is sitting on the porch outside his retirement community in Miami Beach. He sees a farmer in the distance struggling to push a wheelbarrow down the road, and goes to greet him.

"Hello," says Goldstein.

"Hello," says the farmer.

"Where are you going?"

"To town."

"What's in the wheelbarrow?"

"Manure."

"Manure?" says Goldstein. "What do you do with that?"

"I spread it over my strawberries," replies the farmer.

"Well," says Goldstein. "You should join me for lunch here someday. We use sour cream."

A merchant from Lublin orders a shipment of groceries on consignment from Warsaw. Instead of receiving his order, he gets a telegram: "Sorry, cannot fill order until previous order is paid." The merchant sends a reply telegram: "Please cancel order. Can't wait that long."

Enjoy!

B'Shalom,

Rabbi Alan Cook

Yiddish Cabaret Night

Please join the Urbana Yiddish Ensemble for a free evening of Yiddish music at Sinai Temple on February 2 at 7:00 pm. This cabaret event showcases Yiddish theater songs, Yiddish traditional folk songs, and lively klezmer instrumental music (with dancing!).

You are invited to bring wine, beer, and other libations. Some snacks will be provided; snacks to share are welcome. The Urbana Yiddish Ensemble features Jacqueline Ross and Lev Marshall (vocals), Frances Harris (violin), Maria Merkelo (accordion), and Mitch Harris (Tumler/Master of Ceremonies)

Everyone is welcome! Please join us for a fun evening of Yiddishkeit.

The Sinai Temple Security Committee has been working to learn how best to keep our community safe. Representatives of the committee have attended training sessions provided by the FBI and other law enforcement officials and sifted through a variety of other resources to determine best practices. In addition, they have conducted a survey of our Temple membership about security needs, desires, and concerns. I am happy to report that there was a great response from our community in filling out the survey! Thank you to everyone who participated!

This month, we will start implementing some of the measures they have found to be the most effective. First off is an “ALICE” training session on January 27. ALICE, which stands for “Alert, Lockdown, Inform, Counter, Evacuate,” is a training program to teach people how to respond when there is an active shooter in the building. This is a training program that is widely used in schools, houses of worship, and businesses. It was strongly recommended by Lt. Mark Vogelzang of the Champaign Police Department, who attended the special security Board meeting in November.

The second measure will be a “Hands Only CPR” training session. This will be an opportunity for all of us to learn how to apply simple lifesaving techniques to a person in need. This training does not directly address treating wounds in the event of an attack, but it is a critical technique for helping those who have stopped breathing for any reason.

The CPR training session involves working on mannequins with simulated injuries. It will take place from 1-3 pm on Sunday, February 10, in the North and South Pods of Sinai Temple. The training is free and open to everyone, but it is important to let the organizers know how many people will be attending, so they can plan for a sufficient number of trainers and mannequins. Please register for the training at: <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/60b0c4ea8ad28a02-hands>

Sometime in March, there will be a third training session, teaching us how to apply tourniquets in case someone has been wounded. This is another training program that Lt. Vogelzang recommended we implement. He stressed that this technique, when properly applied, significantly increases people’s chances of surviving an injury.

For the foreseeable future, we plan to keep the Temple doors locked at all times. Some additional lighting is being installed in the parking lot, and we have upgraded some of our security alarm systems. Other initiatives will be announced in coming months. The Board of Trustees takes our responsibility to protect the Sinai community very seriously. We do not raise these issues to be macabre or to instill fear but rather to heighten awareness on the part of the congregation. Let us continue to build a safe and peaceful environment that welcomes all who want to come here to worship, learn and enjoy.

February is one of the only months this year without a major Jewish holiday, so Sinai Temple is compensating by scheduling one of our favorite events to warm up the last full month of winter! I am referring, of course, to Trivia Night. Those who attended last year’s event had a wonderful time teasing their brains, enjoying a glass of wine, and feasting on homemade desserts. If you weren’t there last year, I urge you to give it a try. Not only will you have a great time, but the proceeds go to support Sinai Temple—a win-win if ever I saw one! If you haven’t yet reserved a seat or table, there is still time. Please contact the Temple office to sign up, or watch for the electronic sign-up link in your weekly e-mail blast.

See you in Temple!

SINAI TEMPLE JANUARY 2019 BOARD MEETING

Upcoming events of interest to the community:

- ☆ Feb. 2, Yiddish Cabaret, in the Davis Chapel
- ☆ Feb. 23, Sinai Trivia Night in the North and South Pods
- ☆ March 1-3, Landau|Zinder, the architectural firm that was chosen for the upcoming temple renovations, will be in town to attend services and meet with Sinai Temple groups

The Sinai Security Committee updated the Board.

- ☆ Some committee members attended security training in Springfield given by the FBI. Primary rule-of-thumb suggestion: “If you see something, say something.”
- ☆ The committee received and tabulated the results of the email survey about temple security. About 160 replies were received. The main takeaway was the majority of us feel safe at Sinai.
- ☆ There have been some requests for training around security-related topics, and, together with January’s ALICE training and February’s “Hands Only CPR” training, the committee is planning “Stop the Bleed” training in March. More information to follow.

February is a short month, in terms of the number of calendar days, but this February is PACKED with exciting events and opportunities. Recently, the B'nai Mitzvah class did a text study on Shabbat and as part of their requirements for the class, they were asked to celebrate or observe Shabbat in a way that is different from their regular observance. A long list of ideas, including lighting candles and reciting Kiddush for a month to preparing a Shabbat dinner for guests was generated. With the experimentation, they were asked to write a reflection and then to discuss their choices and how they felt after observing Shabbat in a way that pushed them beyond what they regularly do. Introducing something as brief as saying a few table blessings or making an effort to have a Shabbat lunch made them think about how Shabbat gives us a time to recharge, to celebrate, to be connected to our Jewish community.

Life is easy when we get into a routine, but it is always exciting to have change. February will offer you both—change and routine—when it comes to Shabbat and Sinai Temple! As we challenged the B'nai Mitzvah students to celebrate Shabbat in a new way, please consider accepting the same challenge. We have some unique Shabbat opportunities, and you are encouraged to join us for each of them!

Friday, February 1—First Friday Shabbat service and dinner. This is a relatively new Shabbat celebration at Sinai Temple. Rabbi Alan and a group of volunteers make a delicious dinner. Services are early (5:30) and dinner follows. This is perfect for people who have an early bedtime but still want to celebrate Shabbat with community.

Friday, February 8—CUTY will lead Shabbat tefillah and provide the oneg Shabbat. Our teens are excited to help lead the congregation with music, prayer and words of reflection.

Saturday, February 9—Egalitarian Traditional Minyan. This minyan meets 1-2 times each month and offers the congregation a regular Torah reading as well as a more traditional worship style. There is always a Kiddush lunch to follow and it is a wonderful way to gather with the Sinai Temple community on Shabbat. This Shabbat will be particularly special because Rabbi Efrat Rotem, and Israeli ordained Reform rabbi, will be leading the morning blessings.

Friday, February 15—Teacher Appreciation Shabbat. All are invited to recognize and honor our religious school and Hebrew school teachers. We begin the evening with an early dinner (5:30) and follow that with two worship options—Shabbat Rocks! And Next Dor.

Friday, February 22—CU at Home for Shabbat. This is a new program that is a collaboration between Hillel and Sinai Temple. Our goal is to pair small groups of students from Hillel with families in our community who will host them for Shabbat dinner. We are in need of families to host the students—if you are interested in connecting with the campus community, hosting some students in your home, and doing a mitzvah, please contact Rabbi Jody! Both Hillel and Sinai Temple will hold a brief Kabbalat Shabbat service before Shabbat dinner.

"More than Jews have kept Shabbat, Shabbat has kept the Jews." This quote is attributed to Israeli poet, Ahad Ha'am. We know from the Talmud and the Torah (it's even in the BIG 10) that we are commanded to remember and guard Shabbat. Shabbat is a gift that we were given by God, and we have an obligation to preserve the day.

Please see the attached flyer about the Purim Basket Fundraiser. This is our most successful fundraiser each year, and we hope that you will participate again! Your unique login and password information, along with more information, will be coming in the mail soon!

UPDATE FROM SINAI RENOVATION COMMITTEE

Much has changed for the Sinai Renovation Committee (SRC) since the last newsletter update! The in-town architect who was working with us decided that they weren't interested in continuing our project, so our plans for a December kick-off were dropped.

There is a silver lining, however: we were able to return to Landau-Zinder, which was the architect preferred by the SRC last Summer. Within a few weeks in December and January, we negotiated and signed an agreement with Landau-Zinder for an initial design. (The contract does not go further, although we hope to continue the work with them after that.)

The design effort will kick off on March 1, when their two principals (Michael Landau and Josh Zinder) attend First Friday services. This is the beginning of a busy weekend with them, during which they will also attend the Egalitarian Traditional Minyan, meet with the Board and SRC, and give a presentation to interested members of the congregation about synagogue design, which is their specialty.

We hope that you plan to come to events the weekend of March 1, meet our architects, and share your input during this early stage of the renovation process.
