Thursday, May 21, 10:30 AM - A Look at Torah- BaMidbar
This week’s Torah portion, BaMidbar, begins the Book of Numbers. We’ll take a look at the census that begins the portion and the significance of the tribes, the tribal leaders, and their placement in the camp. Join Rabbi Alan as we read a brief selection from the Torah scroll and explore how to understand these teachings in a modern context. We’ll also explore some of the interesting features of the Torah text itself, including the indications that a new book has begun. You can volunteer to read a prayer in Hebrew or English, to sing, and/or to read a piece of poetry that is thematically linked to the prayer. Rabbi Alan can provide you with a text, or you can choose your own! Consider gathering your candles and your wine or juice near your computer, so that we can make these blessings together.
